

Resources

Here you will find an extensive collection of research, news, and information. All the information has been gathered from respectable, legitimate sources. We have compiled this information into one hub to help you find and discover the important cancer and healthcare research and information that does not make it into mainstream media. Some of these articles may also be found in our blog. If you have research you would like to share with us please share in the comments below or message us here.

Just Click on pdf Icon to download the document.

Cancer is fungal. Could It Really Be That Simple?

Here we explore this theory.

American Cancer Society Ignores the Cure

An article by Dr. Sircus, posted on his blog, February 2013

The Collapse of Health Care is Here

An opinion.